Question Number: 3

Is the normal water level at the bridge site the same as the water level of Lake White?

Yes, the normal water level at he bridge is normally the same as the water level of Lake White, but Lake White is currently drawn down below the normal water level for spillway and dam repairs.

Question Submitted: 8/1/2007

Question Number: 4

The response to a previous questions stated that Lake White is currently drawn down for repairs. Is the contractor to assume that the lake will be at its current level throughout construction of this project?

No - Contractor should prepare his bid on the basis that Lake White will be restored to its normal level during the construction of the bridge.

All prospective bidders, subcontractors, suppliers, materialmen and all others who have an interest in these prebid questions and answers are advised that these items are being provided for informational purposes only and are not part of the bidding documents. If a question warrants a clarification, the Department will issue an addenda addressing the request for clarification to all plan holders. If the Department believes that the bidding documents adequately address the request, the contractor will be advised accordingly.
