Question Submitted: 9/18/2009

Question Number: 1

1) Are plans available of the existing structure? The existing beams are deeper than the proposed beams.2) A question of constructability. The detail on sheet 7 shows the new beams being installed with 1" PEJF between them and the existing backwall and approach slab which remain. I am not sure that the new beams can be installed in this manner if the existing backalls and approach slabs are not replaced.
