Issue 3: Health & Transportation

Health & Transportation—Better Together!

The Ohio Departments of Health and Transportation are teaming up to support active transportation. Walking, biking, and taking public transit are critical to the sustainability of communities, and the health of our residents. Focusing on active transportation means improving safety for Ohio's most vulnerable road users and creating environments that make the active choice the easy choice for all road users.

Working with a group of statewide stakeholders for guidance, the Active Transportation Plan includes initiatives in four areas: Infrastructure, Data, Education and Policy. GroundWork is one initiative set in motion to share information related to these four areas.
